About The Teacher

Cali is a full-time performer, songwriter, award-winning recording artist, and popular ukulele teacher. She has taught at ukulele festivals and currently teaches several ukulele classes and private students. What was supposed to be a two-month beginning ukulele class turned into The CC Strummers, her ukulele group based in Culver City, California.

Over the years Cali has performed thousands of shows for audiences big and small.

Learning about music “on the job” informs her pragmatic approach to teaching—whether she is talking about music theory or how to keep an audience (and students) interested and engaged in music-making.

During the Covid-19 pandemic, Cali has taken her ukulele classes and gigs on Zoom. Every week she teaches beginning and intermediate level uke classes and is a volunteer musician with memory care patients.
